"J.C. from childhood had a fixed idea of emigrating, and with that end in view, after leaving school, applied himself to learn on a farm and in a blacksmith's shop everything that would be of use to him in a new colony.

He had the government contract for shoeing police horses; bought gold from the diggers and sold to banks in Melbourne. He was swindled out of a large sum of money by a man whose life he had saved, and further by the police.

He never carried firearms and, although it was known that he carried considerable sums of gold dust, he was never molested by bushrangers -- thus bore testimony to peace principles. He realized a certain sum of money at the goldfields and then removed with his family to N.Z. He died as he had lived, a member of our Society, although he had been disowned for marrying out."

From William Howitt, 179, Vol. 2, pp. 33-4:

"J.C. still retained the peculiarities of the Society of Friends, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him.

Elinor Clifton took a Meeting House out with her, furnished by some of her friends in England. "It is situated a few hundred yards behind their house, and one or two of her family mostly sit with her when she is well enough to go out." (7, p. 270)

Elinor Clifton described Meeting (104) 6 xii 1858: "About one or two on First Days I bring forth my Bible and round the table in the dining room sit my husband and widowed daughter and her 4 children, Foster aged 10, Rose 9, Frank 7, and Harry 5. Another grandson living with us at present for the advantage of our Australian National School. My son Gervase, a farmer, often with us. Although our time is very short it is stillness and even more at times, and then the Bible is opened and I read 3 or 4 Psalms, 2 or 3 chapters and a hymn, and I can only say that generally my heart overflows with gratitude for the favour this sweet little opportunity seems to be to me, and the promise is fulfilled 'Although I have cast them far off among the brethren, and although I have scattered them among the countries, yet will I be to them as a little sanctuary in the countries where they shall come.' "

James Backhouse, writing to J.B.Mather, 20 vi 1843, says that 2 young Friends had come out with Elinor Clifton, but had been a burden to her. One became a drunkard and spread the evil report that her Meeting House had become a sly grog shop. (135)

COTTON Francis (Continued)Testimony to Francis Cotton, Hobart M.M. 1 viii 1883.

Apprenticed to a builder and contractor in London, then in business on his own.

Left England 1828 with wife and five children. Voyage of six months. Ship dismasted after leaving Cape of Good hope, then jury-rigged. Had meant to go to N.S.W., but tired of the sea by time of reaching Hobart, and struck with the beauty of Hobart's shores. In Hobart six months. Shipwrecked on the way to Swanport, proceeded in open boat. Located for a time at military settlement at Waterloo Point "in a sod hut thatched with grass" - all his belongings lost in a fire, wife and children (now six) in night attire. Francis' hand had been crushed in the fall of a tree. Had to go 200 miles to Hobart in open boat to procure clothing and supplies. Began building a cottage. Trouble with aborigines - two of his men were speared. Francis never carried firearms, would go himself to look for stray cattle. Meeting with J.B. and G.W.W. June 1834 he was recorded as a minister by Hobart M.M. M.M. alternately in Hobart and Kelvedon till 1843. Clerk of V.D.L. Y.M. for 27 years.

Good citizen. A practical man. Member of District Roads Trust, municipal Councillor, declined request to be a J.P. (difficulty with oaths). Influence led to passing of the Affirmations Act. Helped with new Meeting House. Overwhelmed when he saw the Meeting House filled to overflowing at Isaac Sharp's lecture - "Now, Lord, let thy servant depart in peace."

COULSON Eliza (c.1828-1879)

b c. 1828, d of Rose Chambers of Manchester. Was Rose Chambers disowned for M.O.? No record could be found of her husband or of Eliza's birth. In Feb. 1834, when Eliza was six, Rose applied for readmission of herself and Eliza.. She died before the readmission in March. (49)

R. Lindsey "visited Dr Cox at Woolongong who had embraced the principles and views of Friends in many respects." (from Y.M. Proceedings, 1861, p.79).

Robson, son-in-law of Cox, says: "Dr Cox has been a thorough Friend for 30 years. He had had Meetings in his home and attended Devonshire St Meeting in Sydney. He had applied for membership, and a year later 2 Fds., Abraham Davy and John Palser, had visited him. He had then in his house a poor relative whom he had rescued from destruction through drink. When the Fds. paid the visit this man was drunk and insulted them. The result was they declined to receive Dr Cox into membership because he had a drunkard in his home."

James Backhouse (1, pp. 448,9) described Dr Cox as "a substantial colonist, living at Winbourn, having the features of an English gentleman's seat."

G.W. Walker (B 717, pp. 52-4): "The brothers Edward, George, Henry, William, James constitute one of the most numerous and opulent families in N.S.W."

Rachel Henning (96, p.26) writes for 29 iii 1855 :
"There is an old Dr Cox who sometimes comes here to see Biddulph. He puts me out of patience with the nonsense he talks about peace. (Note: at the time of the Crimean War)
He is a Quaker and considers such texts as 'If thine enemy...'
as applicable to our relations with Russia. It is of no use to argue with him as Tregenna said, for he only goes off into a long string of heterogeneous and misapplied quotations. I told him I was thankful the English government did not think like him and went off to feed the fowls."

CUDMORE Daniel Michael Paul

Son of Patrick and Jane Sarah Cudmore of Cork. (198)
Jane an Irish Friend (191)

Went to an English Friends' School. (84. 3 xii 1837)
(could not trace this.)

Emigrated with his wife Mary, born Niall, in 1835 to V.D.L. for a year.

3 xii 1837 Daniel Cudmore and wife had attended Fds
Mtg in Hobart. He had greatly improved his temporal prospects by leaving V.D.L. where he was "assistant in the undesirable business of a brewer." (191) Now occupied in building terra pisé huts.

To South Aust.

14 xi 1850 George Sanders to Jas Backhouse. Daniel Cudmore not seen, but reported to be 150 miles in the interior. Will forward books to him per sister of D.C.'s wife. (189)

James Backhouse regarded Cudmore, with Robert Cock and J.B.Hack, as a possible nucleus of a Friends Mtg.
in South Aust. (155)
